Being a journalist, you generally catch some pretty good information. The latest word is that a young legal eagle, none other than Ms. Lydia D. Logie, has passed the Texas Bar. A new addition to the Territorial clerk to Judge Edgar D. Ross. After Ms. Logie acs the Virgin Islands Bar, I wonder what her next step will be? Managing assistant attorney general, attorney general for the territory or perhaps senator – she could go for the governor's seat. Who knows? One thing is for sure, she is a talented and beautiful young lady who gets what she wants.

Oh, by the way, please disregard any email or faxes regarding myself sent to you by that insidious little terrorist I have dubbed the UNALibeler.....
