Preventing foreclosure on your home

Avoiding home foreclosure is the first priority of most people considering bankruptcy. We make it our priority, too. With more than 15 years of experience as a Macon bankruptcy attorney, Lisa Sampson-Roberts has helped countless clients through the process of Chapter 13 bankruptcy. She thoroughly explains your options, including:

- Delaying the foreclosure by filing for bankruptcy
- Fighting the foreclosure in court if your rights were violated by a mortgage lender
- Stripping a second mortgage lien from your home, making it more affordable by reducing monthly payments

The first step is to get information from a trustworthy bankruptcy attorney. With offices in both Stockbridge and Macon, GA, Sampson-Roberts & Associates is here to answer any questions you may have and help you use the federal bankruptcy code to your advantage.

Stopping repossession with Georgia bankruptcy

If you buy a car, truck or other vehicle, it is important to remember that they may be repossessed by creditors if you fall behind on your payments. Filing for bankruptcy will stop a repossession action against you.

In Georgia, state law outlines strict rules creditors must follow when repossessing property. Any deviation from these rules may be a violation of your consumer rights. Stockbridge and Macon bankruptcy attorney Lisa Sampson-Roberts is well-versed in the laws that govern repossession and can help you protect your rights, keep your property and eliminate or reduce your debt.
