

“Multipolar” World Order

By Scott Huckaby

7/26/2026

For Discussion: Fake Wars & Higher Prices: What A "Multipolar World Order" Really Means

(zerohedge.com; May 21, 2026)

<https://www.zerohedge.com/geopolitical/fake-wars-higher-prices-what-multipolar-world-order-really-means>

What is the current world order that has to change according to the Bible?

The world is made up of sovereign nation-states dominated by a single super power (the USA).

- The USA wields influence over other nations due to its military and economic strengths.

Why are people anticipating a New World Order?

The world is changing. The once dominant imperial power of the United States is faltering, hollowed out by corruption, over-extended by hubris, eaten away by moral decline and division.

What are people expecting to replace the USA-dominated world order?

The latest buzz-word is “multipolar” ...Everyone is talking about the “multipolar world order” just over the horizon.

- From “Pax Americana to Pax Multipolaris”.
- This term is being used by politicians, international think-tanks, academia and the media.

Why do some think the US/Israeli war with Iran is accelerating the long-awaited US Empire’s decline?

Some think that this war is a last-ditch effort at trying to stop the multipolar world from breaking free:

What is unfolding in Iran is not simply a war over the regional balance of power or nuclear containment. It is an attempt to rupture the geographic core of an emerging multipolar order designed to bypass Western dominance.

(Middle East Council on Global Affairs)

The Iran War Shows the Limits of U.S. Power – If Washington cannot adapt to the ongoing transformations of a multipolar world, its superiority will become a liability.

(Carnegie Endowment for International Peace)

What is envisioned by multipolarity?

Global cooperation between free-and-equal sovereign nations, each pursuing the interests of their people without living under the cloud of Imperial hegemony.

The original meaning of multipolarity when this term was first used in the late 90s predicts:

A multipolar world districted into blocs or spheres of influence, but still more dynamic and potentially fair for being out of the Empire’s shadow.

What does the Bible have to say about the world divided up into “blocs or spheres of influence”?

Revelation 17:12 – The ten horns which you saw are ten kings who have received no kingdom as yet, but they receive authority for one hour as kings with the beast.

The global government will initially manifest itself as an oligarchy ruled by 10 kings. The tenure of these 10 kings will be short lived and they will quickly yield their sovereignty to the Antichrist (see the next verse).

What does it mean when quotes are put around buzz-word terms like “climate change” or “hate speech”?

These are words and phrases that don’t mean what they pretend to mean... others: “public health” “terrorism” “misinformation” “sustainability” “gender dysphoria”

- In our political landscape, these terms have ceased to be words with meanings and become both camouflage and conditioning.
- This is a dishonest combination of programming language and hypnotic suggestion
- These are phrases designed to hide reality on the one hand, and elicit powerful conditioned emotional reactions on the other.

What comes to mind when the ruling elite coin terms intended to control people?

George Orwell referred to this as “newspeak.”

- Newspeak is deliberately altered, simplified terms designed to limit free thought and be deceptive political propaganda that obscures the truth.

Is “multipolarity” a term that should be in quotes?

Yes, the truth behind the word is simple: it is a global franchise for an old system of control.

But wouldn't a multipolar world be better than US Imperialism? Shouldn't hegemony be resisted?

That is the argument of the defenders of the "multipolar world order" narrative.

- That same argument has been deployed by climate change supporters, who claim "even if the climate isn't changing, protecting the environment is still a good thing, isn't it?"

The flaw in this argument is a failure to question the underlying assumptions and official definitions of these phrases.

- State-backed corporate "environmentalism" is not about planting trees or saving animals
- Globalist-backed corporate "multipolarity" is nothing to do with increasing national sovereignty or offering independence from a global authority.

What will be the reality of a "multipolar world"?

It will be a system of intertwining corporate and state institutions implementing authoritarian, anti-human policies and disguising an ideologically monolithic power structure behind an illusory veneer of "choice".

- We in the collective West are familiar with this model – it is the way our "democracies" function.

What is the "false left/right paradigm"?

(to use JB Hixson's term)

Two major teams, with near identical ideologies and taking orders from the same unelected powers, fiercely battling it out over the tiniest sliver of uncommon ground.

- This superficial conflict distracts from the fact they agree about everything that really matters, have no real power at all, and are at best replaceable widgets in a vast influence machine.
- The point of these battles is to convince people that democracy exists, that they have a choice, and can affect change.

How does "multipolarity" expand on the "false left/right paradigm"?

"Mutlipolarity" is simply another control mechanism of fake binary left-right, red-blue, Coke-Pepsi partisan politics rolling out world-wide.

How did "mutipolarity become the plan of the global elite?

The Covid "pandemic" was intended to be a great global unifying moment.

- A threat to the world that untied the world, like in Independence Day.

We were meant to be using digital currency under a globally implemented social credit system by now. Owning nothing and being happy.

- But it didn't work.

The Covid trojan horse not only failed, but backfired spectacularly resulting in people becoming more aware of the centralized, unified nature of global power structures.

- So, there was a need for a re-adjustment. A new approach... International unity didn't work and doesn't sell, but an international binary might.
- That's the "multipolar world order".

Why are Russia and Chia on-board with "multipolarity"?

It is far better, from their point of view, to have a seat at the globalist table than be living with Uncle Sam's nuclear gun at their temple.

- It's possible many of the people involved truly believe that a fake "multipolar world order" really does prevent a nuclear war, and is for the best.

What will be the role of war in the new "multipolar world order"?

War is vital to the development of this multipolar model, in two main ways:

1. It disguises, discredits and/or distracts from, the revelation of globalist cooperation highlighted by the Pandemic.
2. It furthers, by other means, the "great reset" agenda.

How does war disguise efforts to impose a global government?

Global unity government is a very unpopular idea, so its creeping implementation has to be disguised.

- Nothing disguises unity of purpose so well as armed conflict.
- A state of being at war tends to unite people behind the government.

How does war benefit the global elite?

Both sides in a war have corrupt political classes, both sides have arms manufacturers keen to profit from chaos, both sides crave "emergency war-time powers" to crack down on domestic dissent.

- War drives up prices, consumes resources, lowers the standard of living, justifies shortages and manufacturers scarcity.
- Higher prices erodes freedom.
- These factors combine to make a state of being – or appearing to be – at war vital to the planned breakdown and reconstruction of society.

What is the benefit of staged war?

The benefit of a staged war vs a real war is much the same as a fake pandemic vs a real pandemic – control.

- A coordinated “war” can last as long as it needs to, pause or resume on command, kill as few or as many as necessary, and can’t ever accidentally result in nuclear annihilation.
- George Orwell described it almost perfectly eighty years ago. Super-continents locked in eternal, and maybe even fictional, conflict. Warfare becoming “a purely internal affair”, not meant to be won but meant to be continuous.

What are the characteristics of a staged war?

These are never ending wars with vague victory conditions that neither army ever loses but both sides constantly claim to be winning.

- Meanwhile, the price of energy is only going up, we’re being warned of fertilizer crises and food shortages and higher taxes.
- Jesus referred to these staged wars calling them “rumors of war” in Matthew 24:6, a birth pang indicating the coming end of the Age.

What is the shared agenda of those staging war?

Everyone on any of the supposed sides believes in the same things and shills the same foundational globalist lies such as climate change and Covid. They all push the same familiar shopping list of policies:

- Programmable Digital currency
- biometric Digital ID
- ending online anonymity
- Cashless society
- Censorship
- “Sustainable development goals”

The unspoken endgame of this collective horror show is easy to summarize: Techno-authoritarianism.

How will techno-authoritarian multipolarity become a global government?

A dystopian society where the state and mega corporations merge into a Thing-like monstrosity that has constant, real-time access to any and all data for pretty much everyone on the planet.

- That has the ability and facility to monitor – or control – every transaction, every journey, every message or phone call.

“Multipolarity” disguises this truth, and uses partisan thinking and ideology to draw fake or surface-level distinctions.

- BRICS vs NATO, the US vs China, Israel vs Iran, Europe vs Russia, Belt and Road Initiative vs the India-Middle East-Europe Trade Corridor.

- Pick a flag and wave it. Fake Wars & Higher Prices, all in the service of The Great Reset.

That is its purpose, and what “multipolarity” really means.

What is the prophetic significance of the multipolar new world order?

It reveals how close we are to a global government in which the Antichrist will step into to rule...

Revelation 13:7-8 – authority was given him over every tribe, tongue, and nation. All who dwell on the earth will worship him, whose names have not been written in the Book of Life of the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world.

What applications do we see from our discussion today?

- The globalist vision for the Great Reset is alive and well in their much-anticipated multipolar world order.
- The staged wars are the “rumors of war” Jesus said would characterize the end of the Age.
- The world is one crisis away from realizing their vision for a multipolar world order... maybe the rapture will be that crisis.